THE TOWN RECORD

By MONTE DAYTON

It's the birds.

At least that's the opinion of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM PETREE, 241 Second avenue.

Their budgie, name of BILLY BOY PETREE, flew the coop last month and they haven't seen beak nor feather of him since.

If you find a small blue budgie that cusses like a bucaneer, that's not Billy Boy. He's the soul of piety.

But, anyway, upshot of the whole thing is, the Petrees have come up with an idea to aid persons in similar bird absenteeism problems.

Their plan is to establish a sort of central housing program for lost feathered friends. If all bird devotees plunked in a few cents a week, such an establishment could be financed.

It was their idea, but don't forget, we mentioned this fowl plan first.

This is a rumor so don't repeat it: WILLIAM McKAY, former prexy of the Broadmoor Improvement association, and now member of the board of directors, may resign his post—Clashing of minds and wills among certain other members of the board.

---

Gadabout AXEL LUNN is now a confirmed believer in fate.

After travelling to Sweden and points thereabout recently, encompassing some 16,000 non-accident miles, he returned home, only to wind up receiving injuries in a car accident several days later.

---

GEORGE GLASS, proprietor of the HILLTOP MARKET, passed cigars out this week—making it an even half-a-dozen times he has been generous with the tobacco.

No 6, born Monday at St. Joseph's hospital, weighed in at 7 lbs., 8 oz. Name: JEANNENE.

This makes No. 3 daughter for George and PATRICIA, evening things up at the three-all house-

BROADMOOR POTENTIAL DISASTER

KEEPING AT ARM'S distance from apparently lethal hand grenade are Lou Buchel (left), reserve Broadmoor police officer, Mike Distell and Chief Ray Savage. Distell, 13, used quick-thinking when he came upon the live grenade Monday on a vacant lot on Edgeworth between 87th and 88th streets. He reported the explosive to Broadmoor police, who summoned the Bomb Disposal unit at San Francisco presidio. The pin was still in the grenade and army authorities said it was definitely "not a practice weapon. However, they report, the insides looked like they had been tampered with. Further inspection of the grenade will be made today (Friday) by service personnel.

RATS INVADE HOMES ON SECOND AVENUE

Rats! That was the subject of discussion broached to the city council Monday night by two irate citizens.

According to Roger A. Kucich, 280 Second avenue, rats enter his house and even emerge from the toilet, "disrupting our whole family life."

Source of the un-appreciated rats is a dried-out sewer in the area, which serves as a suitable breeding grounds for the rodents.

Mayor Anthony Gaggero explained that, though the matter is one in the hands of the sewage district, the city has launched measures to wipe the rats out.

Kucich said his son, six, was afraid to go near the bathroom and his wife was equally frightened. "It's a hell of a mess," he avowed.

William Driscoll, who owns the residence at 284 Second avenue,

PANTY PILFERER IS NABBED IN SF

Daly City's panty burgular has been nabbed.

He was picked up by San Francisco police Monday on several charges of similar escapades in that area.

On questioning by Officer Dave Johnstone of the Daly City force Samuel J. Amato, 33, of 267 Frederick street, admitted to two panty pilferings in Daly City on Sept. 23.

The incidents occurred at 61 and 81 Park Plaza drive.

He will appear in San Francisco municipal court October 13 on a petty theft charge.

KINDERGARTEN MOTHERS ASK BUS SERVICE

Bus transportation for kindergarten children was asked by parents of children living in the Jefferson school area Thursday night at the regular meeting of the elementary school district board of trustees.

The parents maintained that crossing at Hillside boulevard and Mission streets is too dangerous for the children.

But the board pointed out that a crossing guard is stationed at the intersection and that traffic is controlled by traffic lights.

"Distance is the determining fact in the provision of bus transportation and if exceptions are made many more busses and drivers would be needed," the board explained.

This would bring added expense to the district and would seriously curtail the educational program or increase taxes, they added.

In other business Thursday, the board:

1. Accepted resignation of William Hunter, veteran bus driver. He was obliged to leave his post because of doctor's orders.

2. Adopted resolutions of acceptance of deeds as part of negotiations for securing Martinez, Lee and Layten properties in the

Jitney Owners, Muni To Meet Monday Night With Council

Possibility of jitney service for Daly City will be thrashed out Monday night at a special meeting among the local council, municipal railway authorities, and jitney owners.

The meeting was brought about by a request to the council from Paul J. O'Leary, president of the jitney owners, who said that "many inquiries as to our starting date have been received from Daly City residents."

Several months ago the jitney group "made an extensive survey of Daly City transit," according to O'Leary. However, he pointed out, no further word was received from the local council.

C OF C RELEASES STUDY ON OFF-STREET PARKING

Recommend Establishing City Assessment District

The Chamber of Commerce this week released its 30-page off-street parking survey, completed after several months research by chamber members.

The illustrated manuscript compared parking problems with ten other municipalities, and gave an analysis of the local situation.

Pointed out was the fact that "acquisition of public off-street parking facilities" is a necessity.

In a non-technical description, the booklet suggested establishment of a parking district, under which the cost of acquiring and improving parking lots is assessed upon the real property lying in the district.

The district would be within the city, under the Chamber plan, and the council would conduct its proceedings.

Submitting of the survey to the council is expected at the next regular meeting and further study by the chamber is pending.

Members of the committee who conducted the survey were: Robert

COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT FOR NEW FIRE ENGINE

Contract for supplying a new city fire truck was awarded by the council Monday to Seagraves company, who submitted a bid of $30,468.50, plus tax.

At the same time, the council set another facet of the fire-fighting improvement program in motion by calling for bids on the new Westlake fire house. Bids will be opened on October 19.

Expansion of the fire department was made possible last October when voters of the community approved a $150,000 fire bond.

Though the winning bid for the fire truck was not the lowest, Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy recommended the Seagraves offering because "we will be getting the most for our money."

Kennedy said he made an extensive study of all bids submitted, and discovered that Seagraves of-

Repentant Mother Indentifies Child In Latest Damage

Vandals struck again at the Westlake school last weekend.

For the second time in less than three months the modern elementary school was entered.

This time, however, damage was estimated at only $100, as compared with the $3500 destruction of mid-summer.

Three rooms were entered through windows broken by the youths, but, through cooperative efforts of repentant parents, the culprits have been identified.

Eight-Year-Olds

According to H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of the elementary district, two eight-year-old boys entered the school Saturday morning at about 9:30 a.m. Once inside they spilled paint, scattered crayons, smashed world globes, pulled down shelves, threw ink, tore up pupils posters, and wreaked "general havoc," Weibel said.

Mrs. Lorraine Sundberg, a kindergarten teacher, arrived at the school at noon to find the room in the state of complete disruption. She reported the condition to the Daly City police and school officials, who followed "every lead" to track down the vandals.

It was not until Monday, however, that identity of the youths was obtained.

Mother Gets Story

A mother of one of the boys discovered school room accessories in her son's possession.

Shortly thereafter she obtained the story of his escapade from him and called the school principal.

Inquiry by school officials revealed the name of the boy's companion.

It was also learned that the

CITY MAKES PLANS TO BEAUTIFY ISLAND

Plans for beautifying the Mission street and San Jose avenue traffic island, to be installed soon by the state division of highways, were outlined Monday night in a resolution approved by the city council.

The resolution called for planting of dracena palm in 24" x 24" boxes at intervals of not less than 50 feet.

Purpose of the foliage will be to "beautify the area and identify this portion of El Camino Real."

Planting of the palms is subject to approval of the state highway department.

Bids for constructing the island, to extend from Alemany boulevard on San Jose to Market street on Mission, will be opened October 7.

The project also stipulates the removal of street car tracks from the strip and resurfacing the high-

ASK APPOINTIVE JOBS FOR NORTH END OF COUNTY

More representation of the north county in appointive jobs at the county seat was asked this week by the North San Mateo county council.

The Council directed a letter to Daly City's council Monday night and requested that some action be taken to give the northern county further representation in Redwood City.

Another subject brought up the council in their letter to local officials was "How to avoid double taxation on city fire and lighting districts?"

The north county group asked that Daly City send its attorney to a joint meeting of all northern city legal advisors, to see these requests brought about.

Also scheduled for future consideration was the establishment of a uniform procedure for annexation of new territories and the subsequent clearing up of obligations to assessment districts for those new territories.

A resolution commending Arthur J. Bodien, retired superintendent of the water department and longtime active citizen in Daly City affairs, was passed by the city council Monday night.

"His abilities, personality and accomplishments have long endeared him to every man, woman and child in Daly City," the resolution pointed out.

He was praised for his "excellent and wholehearted services to the city of Daly City," during his 40

Council Postpones Abatement Action On Mission Land

Abatement of property proceedings for land at 6601 Mission were continued by the city council Monday until October 13, due to inability of locating the owner, Mrs. Evelyn Bacher.

Councilman Paul Green said the structure there was a "substandard building" and was erected

CHANCES "GOOD" FOR POST OFFICE HERE

Daly City's chances for securing its own post office looked good this week.

Assistant Postmaster General John C. Allen took time off from duties at Washington last week to inspect facilities here and look into possibility of Daly City acquiring its own post mark.

He was accompanied by Paul Ledrick, his assistant, Congressman from this district, J. Arthur Younger, and Peter J. Markovich, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Allen said that establishing a separate entity for the Daly City post office brought up more problems than just need.

However, he added, "Our department has been told to save the taxpayers money. If we can establish more economical service by separating Daly City's post office from San Francisco, we'll do it."

Younger added that the important thing was to "preserve the autonomy of a community."

Allen visited the post office and inspected the plant there and is expected to make his recommendation for the postmaster at a later date.

He indicated he would "get to work on it right away."

The big problem, he pointed out, is transportation, Allen said.

"If, by taking Daly City's office out of the San Francisco jurisdiction, we can cut transportation costs, we'll make every effort to bring about the move."

The post office department can grant its approval of the Daly City office, on Allen's recommendations, without any legislative action.

Chamber Calls Meet To Explain Parking Study To Merchants

The Daly City Chamber of Commerce parking committee met Tuesday evening to make final plans for presentation of their parking survey to the city council.

A meeting has been set for Tuesday evening, October 13, to outline and explain the survey to the Daly City merchants. All merchants and other interested parties are invited. The committee tentatively plans to go before the council with their recommendations on Monday, October 26.

Attending Tuesday's meeting were: Robert Hunter, accountant, who was acting chairman; Rudy Wolmuth, representing Sprouse Reitz; Raymond Charette, owner of Daly City Blind and Shade; Walter Rector, of Pearson and Rector Insurance Agency; George Lagomarsino, real estate broker; and Pete Markovich, insurance man.

POSTAL OFFICIALS, CONGRESSMAN VISIT DC

STUDYING DALY CITY geography with eye towards establishment of separate post office here are Paul Ledrick of the post office department, Congressman J. Arthur Younger, Peter J. Markovich and John C. Allen, assistant postmaster general. Allen stopped here during his tour of west coast cities. He gave encouragement to the idea of formation of a local office, separate from San Francisco.

He whiffed 14 batters, allowing one hit.

It was no fluke, either. With Tulsa, he fanned 153 during the regular season, just missing the league strike-out record of 160.

He hopes to be working in the majors next year.

Spike Jones Comes To Curran Night Of October 18

The city of San Francisco is to enjoy a bumper crop of corn and the King of Corn has literally taken over. To describe Spike Jones and his big 2-act stage production jam-packing theaters, it might be appropriate to put the finger on him by needling his recordings: "Ma, Just Leave the Dishes in the Sink," hop a jalopy to see Spike, the "Drip Drip Drip" and "Make it a Holiday for (your apron) Strings." Take "Laura" as she's a "Pretty Girl" and before seeing "Jones and His Laugh Record" have a "Cocktail for Two." You will need them when Spike starts to "Serenade a Jerk" and when "Chloe" rides the "Blue Danube." In this way you don't "Always Hurt The One You Love" especialy if you get a "Pop Corn Sack" to spend "Our Hour" with the "Sheik of Araby" or "Chloe" giving "That Old Black Magic" to "Minka" while "Love Is In Bloom." Rent a "Nut Cracker Suite" and find the "Glow Worm" dreaming of "Brownie with the Light Blue Jeans," or possibly "Der Fuehrer's Face."

Spike's new Musical Insanities of 1954" come to the Curran, San Francisco, the night of October 18.

Watching a Spike Jones rehearsal is like watching a group of little kids at a birthday party—anything can and DOES happen. Rehearsals start at 9 a.m. Spike counts heads to see if all are present—and divides by two.

Then he inspects the instruments. When his brand new 'Musical Insanities of 1954," coming to the Curran, October 18, first started to hour this year, he had 35 instruments. Two .32 calibre pistols and a washboard. For the Curran he has 300 musical instruments ranging from a cowbell, yo-yos for the string section, a bath tub that drains in A flat and a rubber octopus that plays eight different instruments at one and the same time. (Petrillo of Musician's Union, please note.)

At the California State Fair, Sacramento, last week, Spike and his show actually played to more people one day than did the horse races. And Spike had no mutuel tickets or a tote board. Just his washboards and mutual admiration of and from the public.

Crocker school block. Building plans are nearing completion for erection of a multi-use room on the property.

3. Adopted resolution of acceptance of deed for the Luippold property for the Vista Grande school site on Wyandotte and Thiers streets. A six-classroom kindergarten and multi-use building will be erected on the site to ease the overcrowded conditions in the Woodrow Wilson school area.

4. Established the rate of $3.50 per hour for an on-call home teacher.

5. Employed Frank Salet as custodian and Louis Valletta as bus driver-custodian.

6. Established an overtime rate of $2 per hour for custodial work.

HOT FOOT FOR S. F. PIGEONS

A city task force has moved in on San Francisco's Civic Center pigeon flock—or at least that part of it which roosts over Mayor Robinson's office.

Equipped with a fire department aerial ladder, a grease gun and a couple of cans of a substance known as "Roost-No-More," a crew has spread the compound in half-inch strips on the jutting ornaments and tops of columns over the corner executive offices.

Works Director Sherman Duckel, a veteran of many anti-pigeon campaigns in the civic center and under whose supervision the current "hot foot" attack was directed, was frankly pessimistic.

'Even if the stuff works, it will be all but impossible to cover all the roosting places on an ornamental building like the city hall."

CARRY DUPLICATE KEYS

That extra set of keys for the car that you have never used before can wisely be taken along when you take a journey, points out the National Automobile Club. Just put them in an odd pocket on your person and forget them until the need for their use may arise. Many a motorist has found himself stranded far away from home and faced with a delay just because he neglected to take along the duplicate keys. The regular keys seem easier to lose on a trip than under any other circumstance.

way.

The council, in drafting their resolution Monday, also requested that breaks in the dividing strip be provided "to accommodate traffic emanating from auto courts at 6843 Mission and 6925 Mission street."

The highway department has indicated that the island will be broken at all present intersections to allow free movement of traffic on and off the highway.

In other business Monday, the council:

1. Denied an application from Gene Blackstone for permit to operate a used car lot at 6889 Mission street.

2. Denied request from West Coast Advertising asking for permission to place three poster panels on the roof of the Balboa Building materials office on the east side of Junipero Serra, south of Knowles avenue.

3. Okeyed request from Foster & Kleiser to erect advertising structures on San Pedro and Washington streets and Mission street, south of Vale street, but denied request for signboard on north line of 90th avenue, west of Junipero Serra boulevard.

4. Authorized payment of $12,569.74 to L. C. Smith company for improvement and widening of Knowles avenue.

5. Authorized payment of $16,720.20 from general fund to Scott company for heating work at the community center.

6. Appointed Mayor Gaggero as representative to the Joint Cities and County Civilian Defense Planning board, with City Administrator Dan Andersen as alternate.

on the wrong property. The land is owned by the city.

However, a letter from the Northern California Motors company, lessees of the property, asked for the continuance since they were unable to locate the owner. They explained that Mrs. Bacher had recently divorced her husband, Rudy, and was living out of state.

Proceedings of abatement were begun there in 1951, and Green urged the matter be taken care of as soon as possible.

Building Inspector George Hopman said the whole building must eventually be torn down.

boys had taken part in the previous damage escapades, but with different companions each time.

Others Involved

One youth named others who were involved in previous episodes. Questioning of those accused revealed most of the story to be true and removed suspicion from some who had been thought guilty, Weibel said.

Some of the parents have offered to make restitution for the damage when their share of the amount can be fixed.

During the past few instances of destructiveness by youngsters, police, school authorities and social workers have attempted to come up with a reason for such action.

"No Trite Answer"

"I doubt if there is any trite answer to the question," Weibel said. "Each is an individual case and much has to be known of the background to find the answer. The particular boy in this case comes from a beautifully furnished home in Westlake, he has earnest, devoted parents, he attends a private school, and from all outward appearances, is a normal healthy boy. The first time he entered the school he apparently was a follower of larger boys who established an example for him. Later he took the lead and got others to go with him."

Asks Remedy

Weibel asked what was the possible remedy for such a situation? "Again it is an individual case. With most children a visit to the woodshed would be the answer. With a few, such action would produce the opposite effect.

"A case of this kind calls for expert treatment and it is a blight on society that so little support is given to those who are in a position to prevent and remedy the situation."

Weibel commended the boy's mother for "having the courage to face the censure and the blame that will come from some sources in reporting what her child had done."

COURTESY HELPS

In driving, as in other social activities, points out the National Automobile Club, courtesy helps. By extending to other drivers on our streets and highways the common courtesies that you extend to associates and friends in the office or home, you can help keep yourself safe.

FACT VERSUS FICTION

As observance of National Newspaper week begins, we feel justified in taking this occasion to "pat ourself on the back."

This weekly newspaper, as most others throughout the nation, attempts to record the life history of the community through its individuals and, at the same time, bring prosperity to local merchants through the medium of advertising.

We have seen the community grow from a brawling infant to a prosperous settlement and have seen its citizens through the birth notice to the obituary.

Thus, the life blood of Daly City enfolds on the pages of THE RECORD each week.

But, still their remains in the minds of certain readers and merchants a certain fallacious regard toward newspapers.

Therefore, we present a few of the "mechanics" making up a newspaper.

In the first place, only a paid circulation newspaper, published in the hometown, can accomplish the purpose necessary to a publication —service to the community.

Being responsible to, and existent upon, the support, both financially and editorially, of its readers, the weekly newspaper must strive to further interests of the community and its individuals.

As the only paid circulation newspaper printed and published in Daly City, we attempt to bring our subscribers all the news. Our readers, in reality, are purchasing a commodity when they pay for their Subscription. At the same time they are purchasing an interest in the community.

For the merchant, it is necessary to keep in mind these facts.

When he presents his wares in our publication he is purchasing a market—that market consisting of 2650 devoted families. These readers pay money for our publication and, therefore, are "using" its contents.

No where else in the community can a merchant purchase a local readers' market of 2650. This figure is certified by the post office and the California Newspaper Publisher's association.

In fact, in placing his merchandise in sundry other publications existing in the area, he is buying a "pig in a poke."

No other weekly publication in Daly City-Colma-Broadmoor-Westlake area is even recognized by the post office or the CNPA as having a single paid subscription.

Therefore, the merchant is throwing good money after a nonexistant quantity of readers.

THE RECORD is proud in maintaining a subscription list of 2650, of being the largest weekly newspaper in northern San Mateo county.

That many readers can't be wrong.

This newspaper will continue to serve its readers and, in doing so, will work for the best interests of the entire community.

HATS OFF TO THE CHAMBER

The Chamber of Commerce deserves editorial applause for its recent survey on Daly City's off-street parking situation.

Working long hours with the tedium of countless facts and figures, the Chamber's parking committee has come up with an intelligent and forthright survey and analysis of the local parking problem.

Whether their efforts will be fruitful, remains to be seen.

But, in compiling this survey, the Chamber has firmly established itself as an organization with Daly City's best interests in mind.

YOUTH AND THE CRUSADE

Daly City's proudest possessions — her boys and girls — go on parade next week as the United Crusade, launches the first of its five "Great Cause" weeks simultaneously with the formal opening of the county's $667,670 fund raising drive for essential youth, health and welfare funds.

"Cause for Youth" week which is teamed with the October 6 kick-off of the Commerce and Industry Division of the Crusade, will feature county wide activities by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the YMCA, Jewish Community Center, Woodside Recreation Foundation and Junior Red Cross and Water Safety.

The local Crusade sponsored jointly by the United Fund and the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, is affiliated with the Bay Area Crusades which include in addition to this county, San Francisco, the Eastbay and Marin, with an over-all goal of $10,300,000. Emphasis will be placed on "give where you work." Through a mutual agreement between the United Crusades, a donor may make his contribution wherever he works with assurance that it will directly benefit him and his family in his home community.

Beginning October 21, Crusade officials state, residential areas will be canvased in order to give every citizen an opportunity to do his share toward maintaining his county's vital welfare services.

Lt. Gov. Knight Campaign Is Off To A Fast Start

The Knight-for-Governor campaign in San Mateo county got away to a fast start last week when leading figures in business, labor, civic and professional fields met in Burlingame city hall to consolidate their ideas and plans for seating Lt. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in the gubernatorial chair next year.

Prominent Republicans and Democrats, spurred by Knight's announcement of his candidacy for the governorship, turned out for the bi-partisan conclave. Outcome of the organizing session is a steering committee that will guide the county pro-Knight campaign.

The steering committee will also be the nucleus for a "Bi-Partisan Committee of 1,000 for Knight for Governor," with membership representing the entire county.

FIRST BOY CHOIRS

The first boy choirs within the present United States, according to the National Automobile Club, were those that supplied the music for the mission churches of New Mexico.

My Mad World

By Leonore Brewer

There comes a performance in the life of every opera when it is time to retire its sets to dusty seclusion, wrap its costumes in tissue paper and pack away the scores. That time came for "Traviata" last Tuesday. With the exception of Miss Kirsten's first act costume, there isn't much I can recall that it worth mentioning. She seemed in unusually poor voice, and her tenor (let's not even mention his name) did little to inspire here. His voice had sufficient volume but so little quality that one hopes that he will be returned to the company in which he was found, marked "underdone." Despite all of the above, it wasn't what you could classify as a bad performance, it was worse—it was dull.

Friday's music-drama "Elektra" was something else again. It presented Borkh as the mad Elektra, superbly assisted by Margarete Klose and Ellen Faul, made Strauss' hard dissonant opera an experience that comes once a Season, if you are lucky. It's a long way from Verdi to Strauss, and such enthusiasm from one who has always championed the former as the greatest operatic composer is going to come as a considerable surprise to some of you. But you are not nearly as surprising as my neighbors in the opera house. As the Agamemnon motive reverberated through the house, I greeted the fall of the curtain with a shout that could have been heard throughout the audience had it not been drowned out by the unprecedented enthusiasm that greeted the end of the opera. With so much of Strauss' music considered to have intellectual value with little emotion, it was a nerve-wracking experience, but it was worth it.

Listening to Inge Borkh in one of the most taxing roles in operatic repertory, one marvels anew at the endless stream of great voices that come into the world. As the luster of one dims, there is always another ready to take its place. We have lost Madame Flagstad, never overly admired by this particular writer. But our tastes change, we even go so far as to hope that they are enriched by the passing years. Certainly we are prepared to hail Miss Borkh as a soprano of heroic stature, not merely destined to become a new Flagstad, but already a great artist in her own right. We are looking forward to her next appearance with positively slavering anticipation. It will be in "Die Walkuere." Who knows, there may come a time when we will dismiss Verdi as being to light, and will prefer the ear-shattering dissonances of the more contemporary composers.

We mustn't overlook "Prometheus," the ballet that preceded "Elektra." Taken as a whole, and keeping the knowledge firmly in mind that our ballet wing is not too strong, it was a very credible performance. Of course, if you sought flaws, they were there for you to find, not the least distracting being the amount of noise that eight members of the corps de ballet were able to create as they moved across the stage. One can remember when Sadler's Well's twenty-two little swans drifted on and off the stage with not much more noise than two. However, a company like that costs money, and as long as we are willing to subsidize just about everything except the arts, we shall have to be content with what we have.

Name SF Attorney To Head Demo's Fund Drive

San Francisco attorney Robert McCarthy, former Assemblyman, has been named area chairman of the Democratic party's Jefferson-Jackson fund drive, it was announced today.

The annual campaign provides funds for the State and National Democratic committees, and is climaxed by the Jefferson Jackson Day Dinner, held this year on October 17 in the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

U. S. Senator A. S. (Mike) Monroney ,of Oklahoma, will be the featured speaker. More than 1,700 Democrats from the 48 counties comprising the Northern Division of the State Central Committee are expected to attend.

Those contributing $25 or more to the fund drive are invited to attend the dinner.

Senator Monroney, a former newspaperman, is serving his first term in the United States Senate. A veteran of Congressional service, the senator previously served 12 years in the House of Representatives.

William M. Roth, San Francisco shipping executive, is general chairman of the Jefferson Jackson Committee for Northern California.

HE'S A BIG BOY NOW, PUT HIM ON SOLID FOOD!

Letters To The Editor

Responsibility For Children Lies With Parents, Home; Mother Of Three Says

To the Editor:

Monte Dayton's report on my appearance at the city council meeting recently missed one point that I would like to make stronger.

Yes, I did request better cooperation between the city fathers and the recreation department. However, prior to that I had asked for better cooperation from parents.

Primary responsibility for our children lies with the parents. Church, school and recreation all serve very good purposes. Our recreation program is growing into a very good one, but it is not the purpose or intent of that department to take the responsibility way from the parents. Neither is the playground director a built-in baby sitter.

It is nice to have playgrounds and a community center for our children to enjoy. Just because we do have them though, is not an excuse for the apparent attitude of many parents: "Our taxes have provided these things, now you children get out of here and go play there. We have paid for the equipment they have, why should we buy more at home?" Consequently, when the playground equipment is not available, many children, especially the older ones, haven't anything to do, and are at loose ends.

Children who are taught to depend on the church, school or government to supply the means with which to utilize the time, have not and do not develop any initiative or self responsibility. They are not capable of handling the problem of time on their hands.

This, to me, is one of the prime reasons behind a large share of our vandalism, juvenile delinquency and irresponsible mischief.

Primary responsibility lies in the home.

Sincerely,
Mrs. J. D. White (mother of 3)

Recreation Commissioner Thankful That Community Eyesore Is Removed Forever

Dear Sir:

Last night, Thursday, September 24, at about 7:30 p.m. on the corner of Lowell and Frankfort streets, a community eyesore was removed forever. It appeared to have been a cooperative arrangement between the fire department and the recreation department, wherein the fire department, under the able guidance of Chief Kennedy, started the fire on this already partially burned monstrosity of long standing and provided training of department personnel, testing and timing of equipment setup, the use of lines and fire trucks tugging away at the burning structure, along with the two hours entertainment it provided for the more than 100 children and adult spectators who crowded the area enjoying every moment of the blazing inferno that sent this nuisance to its final resting place, a small heap of smoldering ashes.

Ordinarily, in situations where a fire exists, looks of awe and horror are prevalent on the faces of those witnessing the spectacle but in this case you could sense the feeling of relief by the broad smiles and comments of "Thank goodness, it's about time," etc.

Many thanks to the members of the fire department, City Council, City Attorney and anyone else instrumental in accomplishing this task, although it took three years to be realized, which, it is understood, was due to the legal entanglements that arose.

Very truly yours,
Walter J. Gillies

Frank W. Rose Named Chairman Of Demo Dinner

Frank W. Rose, Democratic chairman for San Mateo county, has been named area chairman of the Jefferson-Jackson fund drive, it was announced today.

The annual campaign provides funds for the State and National Democratic committees, and is climaxed by the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, held this year on October 17 in the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

U. S. Senator A. S. (Mike) Monroney, of Oklahoma, will be the featured speaker. More than 1,700 Democrats from the 48 counties comprising the Northern Division of the State Central Committee are expected to attend.

Those contributing $25.00 or more to the fund drive are invited to attend the dinner.

Senator Monroney, a former newspaperman, is serving his first term in the United States Senate. A veteran of Congressional service, the senator previously served 12 years in the House of Representatives.

William M. Roth, San Francisco shipping executive, is general chairman of the Jefferson-Jackson Committee for Northern California.

How Can I?

Q. How can I revive raisins and other dried fruits which have become stale and hard?

A. Put them into a strainer and set the strainer with a cover on it over a pot of boiling water for about 15 minutes.

Q. How can I make a good silver polish at home?

A. Buy a little loose prepared chalk from your druggist and make a paste of it by mixing it with ammonia in a small jar. Rub the paste on the silver with a rough cloth, rinse the silver in piping hot water, dry it briskly, and the job is done. Keep the jar of polish tightly covered when not in use; if it dries up, just add more ammonia.

Q. How can I remove shoe polish stains from clothing?

A. Most of the time, ordinary cleaning fluid will work. Or, on washable whites, let the polish dry and then brush most of it off. After that, wet it and let it dry again so you can brush again.

Q. What can I do about water bugs in my cellar?

A. Phosporous paste works well. Smear this on slices of stale bread and put them around water pipes. Be sure, however, to keep youngsters and pets away from the phosphorous paste!

Q. How can I make it easier to take nasty-tasting medicines?

A. If you hold an ice cube on your tongue for a minute or two before taking the medicine, the ice will partially desensitize your taste buds.

Q. How can I keep cut flowers longer?

A. They will keep longer if the leaves below the water are removed, because decaying vegetable matter poisons the water.

Q. How can I prevent baked apples from bursting while cooking?

A. They will not burst if the skin around the top of the apples is pricked with a fork, or if a ring is cut around the center.

Q. How can I remove indelible pencil marks from fabrics?

A. These can often be removed by dipping the cloth in alcohol, then washing the article in soap and water.

Q. How can I prevent starch from putting a whitish cast on black and dark-colored clothes?

A. Try putting a small amount of leftover coffee into the starch.

Q. How can I get perspiration odor out of men's woolen shirts?

A. Ordinary laundering doesn't always prove successful for this. Try adding a little vinegar to the rinse water.

Q. How can I revive dry and hardened putty?

A. Mix it well with a few drops of linseed oil.

Fire Prevention Bureau

Fire Prevention Week is an event that should be observed 52 weeks in each year, not merely one week in October on the anniversary of the Great Chicago fire which occurred October 9, 1871, destroying 17,000 buildings and property valued at $168,000,000. The Fire Marshals Association of North America, on the 40th anniversary of that hot time, traditionally blamed on the restless hind hoof of Mrs. O'Leary's bodacious bovine, declared a Fire Prevention Day on October 9, 1911. Nine years later the day was nationally proclaimed by President Woodrow Wilson, and in 1922 President Warren Gamaliel Harding stretched the observance from one day to a full week.

But it is our job to preach the gospel of fire safety every day in the year in the belief that if sermons are preached loud enough and repeated often enough by as many people as possible there will come a day when we will be saved from fires here—and, we hope, in the hereafter.

The Fire Prevention Bureau of the Daly City fire department is making every effort to instill in the minds of every resident and business man in Daly City of the ever present dangers of fire, and ways and means of combating this danger. We would like to extend to everyone in Daly City an invitation to call upon us for information in regard to the elemination of fire hazards in the homes and businesses.

We are certain that the effort extended in preaching the sermon of fire prevention in Daly City is paying off, with the ever decreasing loss of property value. True we do have fires here but because of the lack of accumulated rubbish in the homes most of the occurring fires are minor.

Safety News From Your Local Police

Chief of Police Roland Petrocchi announced today that information received through the National Police Traffic Safety Institute has revealed that over 7800 young people between the ages of 15 and 24 were killed in 1952 as a result of automobile accidents. In addition to these fatal accidents, there were 360,000 injuries. Drivers in this age group, according to the National Police Traffic Safety Institute's report, represent only about 20 per cent of the total of all drivers but last year this group was involved in 28 per cent of all fatal accidents.

"It is obvious that the reason for this disproportionately high number of young driver traffic fatalities is not to be found in the youngster's lack of manual skill," Chief Petrocchi said. "This is the period of his life when his reaction time is the fastest—his eyes the sharpest and his coordination the best."

"But when the young driver takes a high-powered car into traffic the situation is more than a mechanical one; at this point it becomes social. It becomes a problem in human relations. The youngster must balance his own rights and responsibilities with the rights and responsibilities of others. And that involves social attitudes and judgment."

"This is the problem inherent in youthful driving," Chief Petrocchi continued. "Because of his youth, he has had little chance to develop judgment through actual life situations. Fortunately, actual life experience is not the only source of judgment. If this were the case, the only answer to the problem would be to deny our young people license to drive. There is, however, another approach to development of sound attributes and judgment—education."

Chief Petrocchi said further that, "Education in the high schools has proved itself one of the most effective solutions to the young driver problem. At the high school age, youngsters are most capable of learning proper attitudes and forming good habits. At this age, too, youth is vitally interested in learning to drive. It is no wonder, then, that driver training courses in the high schools consistently produce superior drivers who remain so all through life. In fact, these trained drivers have only one-half as many accidents as untrained drivers do.

"Through education, youth can derive the artificial experiences experiences which form the basis for the judgment and attitudes needed to develop safe driving habits," the chief concluded.

Chief Petrocchi is a member of the National Police Traffic Safety Institute, which organization has interested itself in driver education, and a program of promoting greater teen-age driving safety.

In The Past

TEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Thursday, Sept. 30—Councilman Eugene V. Lynch made a motion at Monday night's council meeting for Daly City to place a portion of its excess funds in War Bonds. Specified amount was $10,000, and the purchase is to be subject to the recommendations of the auditor and attorney as to the series and number. Councilman John J. Fahey Sr. seconded the motion, which was unanimously passed.

A neighbor's speedy action in calling Daly City police Friday evening, September 24, was responsible for the probable saving of $400 and a valuable ring which otherwise would have been stolen from the home of Luciano Tringali, 116 Flournoy street.

Informed at 8:10 p.m. by E. A. Mahan, 128 Flournoy street, that lights were on in the Tringali residence although he knew the family to be away, Police Officers Henry Sundermann Jr. and Roland Petrocchi captured Lawrence Whittlesey, 18, in the act of ransacking the house. The would-be-burglar had gained entrance by forcing the window.

Bill Stratton, 626 Hanover street, was seriously injured in an auto-pedestrian accident at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. He was struck by a car driven by Fred Willis Goethe, 825 Clement street, San Francisco, at Junipero Serra boulevard and 91st avenue. Officers Walter Davis and George Savage of the Daly City police force discovered the accident while on routine patrol.

In business session Monday evening the city council unanimously passed a resolution accepting a bid from H. H. Larsen Co. to build the new city hall. Larsen's bid of $43,223 was the best of ten submitted.

Daly City's new post office, located on Mission street, near the top of the hill, will be opened for business approximately November 1, according to Wm. H. McCarthy, postmaster.

The new building is much larger than the present post office and will afford local residents more rapid and convenient service.

Daly City Chamber of Commerce will hold its last quarterly meeting of the year Wednesday evening in the Theater social hall.

Election of officers and planning of fall activities will be chief items of business. The nominating committee submitted, last week, the names of A. Gaggero, A. Conci, J. Sireix, E. Keighly, Fred Knoll, B. L. Meritt, Paul Selmi, R. L. Crane Jr., and A. Bulf as members of the 1939 board of directors.

Ridgely Cummings Reports

The S. S. President Cleveland sailed with considerable fanfare for Yokohama, Kobe, Hong Kong and Manila at noon on a recent Sunday. In a busy port like San Francisco such departures are a common occurence but to my unsophisticated eyes it seems as if half the city had come down to the watefront for the occasion.

There were weeping women, squawling children and boisterously laughing men exchanging goodbyes.

Over the milling throng hung a pungent aroma of hastily guzzled bourbon.

To one who had participated in a stateroom party, the fumes seemed mild and not unpleasant. But if a completely sober person had had happened to wander into the midst of the hectic crowd, quite possibly he would have gasped in strangled surprise at the alcoholic aroma.

The Cleveland sailed from Pier 50, which is a huge expanse of concrete and warehouses a little beyond the south end of the Embarcadero.

When we drove out earlier that sunny morning it had come as something of a surprise to me that I had never before seen the huge structure. There was a time when I worked on the tugboats in the harbor and sailed in and out on seagoing vessels, intimately familiar with every dock and channel in San Francisco Bay.

But the years slip past with amazing rapidity and now here was a new port facility where once I had sailed by a little island known as Mission Rock, in those days detached from the shore and covered with the rickety remains of a burned wharf.

However I had no time to communicate my nostalgia to my companions. For traffic was heavy and numerous uniformed dock watchmen were waving and giving me contradictory directions about where to park.

I was, on this occasion, the pilot of a station wagon containing three children, two of them mine, and three women, one of whom I might also lay some possessive claim to.

This one, who I will identify as an Intelligent Young Lady, or IYL for short, was worse than the special policemen. She had her own ideas about where we should park. And they didn't coincide with those of the authorities.

"Follow that taxicab," said the IYL. "It's going right to the gangway."

"Yes dear," I said, allowing the cab to turn into the shed while I kept straight ahead toward an open space near some boxcars.

"You didn't follow it," said the IYL.

"The taxicabs don't park, sweetie pie. They let people out and keep on going. This ought to be all right." I swung into the space.

"Hey, you can't park there," bawled a cop. "This is for officials."

"Okay," I said, backing out.

"Maybe you can find a place down at the end of the pier," said the cop.

"Thanks," I said, heading that way. A good portion of Detroit's output had preceded us but I managed to nose into a narrow slot facing the Bay.

The children piled out, shouting with excitement, and we adults squeezed after them.

"Josephine, get off your hands and knees," commanded the other mother in our group.

"Hey daddy, there's a band," chortled Conrad.

"Good," I said, offering my arm gallantly to the IYL, who seemed perturbed because we had parked so far away from the ship.

"Josephine! Stop jigging and skuffing up your shoes," said our companion.

"Can we look at the guns, Daddy?" shouted Mark. "Do you think they have five inch guns?"

On a previous weekend we had inspected a warship, where Mark and Conrad took turns sitting in a metal seat, twirling wheels and getting a fine ride, pointing the guns, I explained that not all ships were equipped with such fascinating machinery, that this was a passenger ship on a peaceful mission.

"Josephine, come away from the edge! Do you want to fall in?" The mother turned to us in exasperation. "Did you ever see such a neurotic child?" she inquired.

The IYL looked at me meaningfully, a little glint in her expressive eyes, and I read her mind.

"Markie, take Josephine's hand and help her up the gangway," I suggested.

"No," he said flatly. "I want to carry the candy. When are we going to open the candy?"

The gangway was covered with gay bunting. At the shore end were stern guards while solicitous ship's officers welcomed us at the other end.

We had timed ourselves to arrive at ten a.m., which had seemed to me amply early, but a hilarious crowd had preceded us. The throng before the purser's office was a mild pandemonium of passengers trying to locate baggage, perspiring stewards threading their way between standing groups, darting children, including Mark and Conrad who had wriggled free to test the sliding possibilities of the waxed deck while Josephine struggled dejectedly in her mother's grasp, and lost visitors inquiring their way to such and such a stateroom.

"Better ask where No. 15 is," suggested the IYL.

"Don't forget I'm an old seadog," I replied. "I know where it is. Just follow me, top deck, starboard side."

We climbed crowded stairs, edged through bustling passageways and sure enough, with a feeling of achievement out of proportion to the result, I deposited the group in stateroom 15.

There were greetings, yelps of welcome, hugs, handshakes, backpatting and chortles of laughter, even though we had seen our departing friends just the previous evening. Something in the excited atmosphere of sailing seemed to make this the proper behavior.

After the bon voyage baskets were opened and the children supplied with confections, our host held aloft a squat bottle of rye.

"Imported from Canada," he confided. "You can't get rye like this down here. What'll it be, soda or ginger ale?"

"If it's that good, I'll have soda," said the IYL.

The other indicated their preferences but I have never been one to drink right after breakfast, feeling that ham and eggs don't mix properly with even the best rye.

"The rest of you go ahead," I said. "I'll take a rain check. I promised the kids I'd show them over the ship."

Glasses were clinking merrily as the three young savages and I departed. We had our pictures taken by several amateurs with movie cameras, watched the dock crew securing the gear, saw literally thousands of Japanese who were making the trip third class, each passenger with twenty or thirty relatives and friends, looked at the empty swimming pool, and came back an hour later to find the stateroom bulging with more friends.

After depositing the children on one of the beds, close to the candy and fruit, I suddenly found myself standing with glass in hand in the bathroom, pressed close to a statuesque blue-eyed girl I had never seen before. There was a hubhub of others around us but she fixed me with her calm, smiling eyes.

"Skoal," she said, touching glasses. We drank.

Our host looked in the bathroom at the overflow of his party and insisted on filling our glasses from a pitcher.

"Who's your friend?" he asked. "How about introducing me?"

"Ah - er," I said.

"I'm a friend of a friend," explained the girl, identifying herself and naming the one who had brought her.

"Watch out for him," said our host, nudging her and leering at me.

"I'm not afraid of him," she said, coming unnecessarily closer. "I love going to parties, don't you?"

"Er, yes, sure," I said, trying to step back but I was against the sink, wondering what would happen if the IYL chanced to look into the bathroom.

The ship's hoarse whistle and a last "All ashore who's going ashore," rescued me from my pleasant predicament. We all trooped down the ladders to the purser's lounge again, where my hostess insisted upon kissing me with unexpected warmth. Even in her moist embrace I had time to observe the blue-eyed stranger bidding a surprisingly passionate farewell to our host.

The other two women in our party were dissolved in tears, the IYL had that bright expectant look in her eyes that she gets after two highballs and the children were jigging to the band music.

Then we were pushed down the gangway in the final surge before it disconnected. We stood on the dock catching paper streamers thrown by our friends from aloft, waving goodbye as the lines were cast off and the Cleveland slowly backed out of the slip.

"Someday I'm going to make the same trip," swore the IYL.

"Yes dear," I said.

"Daddy, daddy," cried Mark. "What's wrong with that man? He can't stand up."

"He must be sick," said the IYL.

"Just between you and me, Markie," I confided, "It's too much bon voyage."

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord. (Ephesians 5:19.) Read Philippians 1:27-30.

It was a summer day in 1946, after the tragic division of Korea took place. From North Korea a train had stopped at the first station in South Korea and unloaded a crowd of people. The refugees soon found themselves in a warehouse as a place for overnight shelter. It was dusk and there was a dead silence. Their hearts were torn with sadness and with fear.

Suddenly someone from a dark corner started to sing a familiar hymn. A score of people responded and gradually the number increased. To identify oneself as a Christian was very risky in those days. But now their hearts were united in courage because they knew that all the singers belonged to one great family of faith, and they were free to give expression to their faith.

Faith is strengthened in the hearts of us believers when together we face hardships and trials. There is no stronger fellowship than the fellowship of those who share the same faith and mutual loyalty to their Master, Jesus Christ.

PRAYER

O merciful Father, help us to acknowledge that we are Thy children in spite of our failures. Make us to forget all the trifle differences and to be united in one great purpose—the evangelization of the world. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

True faith produces unity.

YOUR NEIGHBORS AND MINE

By Betty Brush

Hello Neighbors:

Daylight Saving Time is no more! Wonder just how many of the neighbors were among those who forgot to turn back their clocks one hour last Saturday night? Don't laugh, I was. One neighbor set hers an hour ahead. No more playing out after dinner for the youngsters and of course no more fishing at Lake Merced for the Dads. TV will again be the main event as the evenings get longer and winter approaches. This would be fine—but what happened to summer?

Seems like Daly City has some new neighbors—uninvited ones at that. There has been a seige of bees interested in youngsters and their lunches at the various schools lately. Now these new neighbors (the bees) are lighting on the adult population. The opinion of one and all in the school yards is—THEY HURT.

Sympathies of all the neighbors are extended this week to MRS. ALICE BRAUMOELLER of THE RECORD on the death of her mother, who passed away last week in Colorado.

Well, neighbors, some of our old home town folks who deserted us for Redwood City a few years back just had to come home. A welcome back is extended to MAUD and ART ALVISO. We knew it wouldn't last and are surely glad they are again your neighbors and mine.

News and Views

Of all the men I knew who went out each weekend deer hunting, none of them got anything except the exercise. Leave it to the kids though! Last week LOUIE COOPER and GENE SUPANICH went up to Lassen National Forest and Gene got a deer and Louie a rabbit. Of course Lou would have gotten one too if he had had a 30-30 with him instead of a .22. The boys should be justly proud as the three pointer weighed 115 lbs. dressed. Could be the men should take lessons from the boys.

Seems that the ladies of HILLCREST CIRCLE No. 143 U.A.O.D. like Chinese food. Last week a bunch (26) of them got together and left the fathers home with the baby sitting duties and took off. They had a marvelous dinner and then acted like tourists walking all hrough Chinatown. Just let a lunch of gals plus a lot of good food get together and it adds up to a recipe for a swell time.

Seems many of the neighbors have been wondering where OFFICER GEORGE AUGUSTEIN has been lately. Well the "kid's cop" has been in St. Mary's hospital for an operation. He is at home now and to the delight of one and all will be back on duty at the same corner soon.

Sympathies of all the neighbors are extended this week to the family of MRS. VIRGINIA WEBB, who passed away last week. She had lived in Daly City for many years and was well known, being a member of the O.L.P.H. Mother's Club, Co. 2 Fire Auxiliary besides other organizations. Besides her husband she leaves her daughter Joyce, sisters and a host of friends who will always remember her. To those of us who really knew her she has left a memory of many smiles and was another of the neighbors whom it was always a pleasure to see each day.

More news of the WANDERING HARLANS (Foofie and Bud). The latest is that they have left Montana, traveled through Illinois, Indiana and as far as Wisconsin. From there they went to Annadale, Minnesota, to visit the home town of MR. JAMES POKET SR., and are now on their way to Niagara Falls. Seems about time don't you think, neighbors. More on these two as their journey progresses.

One and all of us go shopping just about every day. Did you ever think why it is that you trade at a certain store? Could it be the salespeople that assist you each day? Well, there never were three nicer butchers that anyone would want to meet. They aren't exactly three men in a tub but they are three of the smilingest, most cheerful fellows one would ever want to give their gold to. Who are they? Just three more of the neighbors whom one is glad to see every day—DAN, TEX and CLARENCE of the Market Basket. Have you met them yet?

Servicemen

P.F.C. GEORGE CONSTANTIN of Fort Ord will be finished with that well-known trip called bivouac by this time. He is expected to be home for a week soon to see his wife and family and then comes the big news? Where does he go from here? His wife and family, like many another in our town, are worrying right along with him.

The Marines have landed and as usual have the situation well in hand. The latest is MARINE HAROLD MOSSMAN, late of Jeff High and the D. C. Hardware Store. His last address was Korea and now he is finally home on furlough. Just one more of the boys in the long line of your children and mine who are coming and going to all parts of the world.

A 2/c DENNY MEYERS of the U. S. Air Force has been heard from too. He is leaving soon for duty in Germany. He will probably meet a few friends there, and will be gone at least a year.

Germany seems to be getting well represented with fellows from Daly City. The Army is sending its representative in BUBBIE LEAHY, who at the present time is home on furlough from Camp Roberts. What has Los Angeles on us when our home town extends clear to Germany and other places?

MARINE P.F.C. "BUMPSIE" BRANDT was home on special leave this last weekend. Seems when one's friends get married one just has to be there. This time it was for the wedidng of ALFRED GALLIANO and HELEN BYRNNE.. "Bumpsie" is now working in the Headquarters Squad and likes it fine.

MARINE P.F.C. ROY "BABE" HUNTSMAN wrote home last week and from his picture is really doing fine. He is in Miami, Florida, and at the present time is very busy with Jets. Babe was born in Daly City just eighteen years ago and it really doesn't seem that time has passed that fast. Hope to see you home soon, Babe.

Another MARINE, P.F.C. DON TRAVASKIS is home on leave before heading overseas. Where? Well the ships are still running to Japan and Korea and it seems that Don has a reservation on one of them.

One week it will be the Army, the next the Air Force, but this week it really seems like all I've heard from are the Marines. P.F.C. AL FLYNN who has been in Japan for the last six months wrote just how much he really appreciated hearing from all the fellows. How does he hear and keep track of them? Through the courtesy of THE RECORD. Many of these boys enlisted together and spent basic together but after that it was all over the world they were sent. If any of the neighbors know any of these fellows they would also like to hear from you too. There can never be too much mail for them.

PVT. J. R. HOLT of the U. S. ARMY would also like to hear from some of his friends. Seems he is still at Fort Ord in the final half of basic and things look brighter when there is news from home. I have his address and if anyone would like to have it, all they have to do is to call me. He is a Class of '53 Jefferson High graduate and there must be at least a few of the fellows still around who could write. How about it folks?

Items of Interest

This is an article that shouldn't have to be written and I take no pleasure from writing it, believe me. Seems last week one of the boys at Jeff stripped for Gym and put his clothes plus his ring, diamond birthstone engraved, in his locker while he attended swimming. When he went to dress—NO RING. He is a Freshman and knew no better than to leave anything of any value in his locker. Last year lunches even got lost from lockers. That in itself is not too drastic except in principle, but this is too much. This ring was a gift to the boy on his graduation and, please neighbors, if anyone knows the whereabouts of said article they can phone me and there will be no questions asked. All the boy and his parents want is the ring back. I will give whoever phones their number to call. The ring is inscribed on the inside and cannot be mistaken as it is a distinctive design. IT CANNOT BE MISSED. My phone—and no names PLEASE—is PL. 5-6482. How about it, neighbors, this could happen to your child or mine and just put yourself in this boy's place.

This was really a vacation! MRS. MARY WAKEFIELD of Evergreen avenue is now home from a long trip taken with her son ORIN, sister-in-law DAISY CALLAN, and MRS. BLANCHE TAYLOR. After they left Daly City they went to Las Vegas, Nevada, where they got stuck for two days, then to Colorado to see the Grand Canyon. They saw the Painted Desert in New Mexico and the Cliff Dwellers, also in the same state. From there they went to the Carlsbad Caverns, still in New Mexico, where they walked 7½ miles underground in a tour with 800 other people. From there they went to Texas and from there to Mexico. While in Mexico they visited Monterey, Victoria, and spent eight days in Mexico City. They went on a guided tour that took them through all the main points of interest including the old Palace of Maximillian and the National Museum. They were gone for 26 days and were glad to get back to the good old U.S.A. The only hitch was that they had to be vaccinated before they could cross the border into the U.S. Mary's was the only one whose vaccination took and according to her it took enough for all the rest.

Well, friends, remember the phone is still PL. 5-6482 and it is really lots of fun talking to and hearing from all the neighbors. Especialy if you heard from any of the boys in the service, give me a ring. Until next week, 'Bye now.

INDIANS LAUNCH GRID SEASON TONIGHT

WILL SEEK REVENGE FOR DEFEAT LAST YEAR TO MT. VIEW EAGLES

Coach Joe McGrath predicted a victory tonight, as his Jefferson Indians launch their 1953 football season against Mountain View high school in a non-league contest on the latters field beginning at 8 o'clock.

McGrath has some justification for his optimism, with nine first stringers returning from last year. The Indians will be out to erase a 14-13 loss handed to them last year by the SCVAL team.

Commenting on the season as a whole, McGrath said, "If our team remains at full strength throughout the season, we have a good chance to take the league. Our depth in the backfield is very thin. Every player will have to be on deck for the crucial games."

The Indians will use the T-formation again this year with Ray Rosa working at the quarterback spot. Rosa was rated third best Northern California passer last year, and is rated even better as this season unfolds.

A brother combination will start in the backfield tonight. Jim Honeywell, 185, will handle the fullback position, and Wally Honeywell will open at right half. Jim, a star on last year's frosh squad, will replace Ed Gallagher, who is sidelined by an injury. Wally set a Jefferson record in rushing last year, and should be hard to stop on the ground.

With Bill Butler out with a bruised hip, Al Lagomarsino, 145, will round out the backfield at left half.

Taking over in the line where they left off last year are Jack Fardella and center Jerry Harper complete the starting unit. Fardella and Harper ended the season as regulars while Logue is a transfer from the strong San Diego Navy team.

Among the new men who are being counted are ends Cliff Crawford and Mike Saunders and guard George Rudometkin.

The Gators will be favored over Cal Tech. The Pasadena gridders, who are coached by Bert La Brucherie, dropped their opener to a strong Redlands squad last week, 27 to 7. La Brucherie, former head coach at UCLA, has two top runners in Art Takido and Bob Christian, both 170. Art Miller, a 250 pound tackle, bulwarks the line.

In a preliminary game at 5:30 p.m., Coach Don Clare's junior varsity squad will meet Menlo college. Clare, star guard of the 1953 Gator varsity, has a top tackle in Richard Tom, and a good halfback in halfgack Jack Sanders. Menlo, which whipped City College of San Francisco, 9-6 in the opener, will be favored.

S. F. GETS TOUGH WITH JAY WALKERS

San Francisco will stiffin its jaywalking policies and increase fines for violations October 16.

This decision followed a meeting of traffic officials and civic leaders at which it was disclosed that 1711 pedestrians were injured in San Francisco during 1952 and 42 of the city's 66 traffic deaths were pedestrians.

The schedule of fines will be worked out by the police department and municipal judges.

In order to build up a fund for the Jefferson Athletic program, the Block J society will sell season tickets to all the home games. Most of the athletic program is sponsored by monies that accrue from game attendance. The local team deserves your suport. A season ticket for five home games will be sold for $4.00. The regular adult price is $1.00 per game.

19 year old Sue Fetz (Miss San Francisco) poses prettily in Gantner's latest swim suit, "Cover Girl," which she models at the daily matinee Fashion Show during the present 9-day San Francisco Home Show at the Civic Auditorium which ends this Sunday.

SM Junior College Home Schedule Opens Saturday

San Mateo Junior College opens its home schedule of football games this Saturday evening at eight on the Burlingame high school field. Orange Coast College from Costa Mesa, Southern California, is the opponent in a non-conference game.

Coach Duane Whitehead's Matean eleven has played only one previous practice game, a 25-0 loss to Hartnell College at Salinas. Hartnell is national co-champion of the junior colleges.

A week from this Friday San Mateo plays a non-conference game at Menlo College. The tilt is set for the afternoon. From then on the Mateans will be in conference competition.

Cal-Ohio State Football Game On Television

National football prestige will be at stake in Memorial Stadium at Berkeley Saturday afternoon (Oct. 3) when the Golden Bears of California play host to Ohio State's Buckeyes in the General Motors TV Game of the Week to be televised nationally over the 83-station NBC network.

With Coach Lynn Waldorf's gridders battling to retain the mantle of Pacific Coast champion and the Buckeyes of Coach Woody Hayes rated among the favorites in the Big Ten conference race, Saturday's game truly will be the "Game Of The Week."

The national telecast will start at 1:45 p.m. (PST) and the game will be televised starting at 2 p.m. (PST).

Saturday's game will give the nation's football fans an idea of what to expect when the Pacific Coast-Big Ten representatives clash in the 1954 Rose Bowl Game next Jan. 1, as both teams are contenders for the Rose Bowl bid.

The California-Ohio State game will be the third of the NCAA-approved schedule of 13 General Motors TV Game of the Week Telecasts.

California's probable lineups for Saturday's game:

Linebackers are Richard Guisti, 150, and Thur.

In the defensive backfield Delma Hamman will start at left half, while Rosa or Butler will handle the safety spot.

In addition to the Mountain View game, the Jeffs will play one other non-leaguer against Galileo high school on Armistice Day.

The regular league sked will include seven games, the first scheduled here on October 9, against Capuchino.

Home Games

Capuchino—Oct. 9
Menlo-Atherton—Oct. 23
San Mateo—Oct. 30
Galileo—Nov. 11
San Jose—Nov. 20

DC EAGLES-STERLING TIED IN KEG LEAGUE

With Mario Stanghellini setting the pace, the Daly City Eagles, Post 1848 (formerly Big John) moved into a tie for first with Homes by Sterling in the Daly City-Colma bowling league staged at Brentwood Tuesday.

Stanghellini walked off with high individual game of the evening, 244, and compiled a 564 series as the Eagles swept a three-game series with Pearson & Rector, giving them a 7-2 mark.

The Sterling gang copped two games, giving them an equal record.

The second place situation emerged in a bind Tuesday as five teams claimed a share of the runner-up spot.

All tied up with 6-1 efforts are Vince & Fred, Kennedy Electric, Lombardi Auto Service, Daly City-Colma Lions and Thur Meat Co.

The Meat company swept their series to move up considerably from their ninth place position.

Nate Pearlman of Vince & Fred racked up a 585 series to claim high individual series for the night's play. He posted one individual game of 223.

Paul's Flowers, bowling from scratch, recorded a high team game of 944, while high team series was taken by Thur, with 2648.

$64 Question For Joe

SF STATE MAY HAVE THE STUFF BUT WILL HAVE TO PROVE IT TONIGHT

Coach Joe Verducci will be looking for answers tonight (Friday) when his San Francisco State football team hosts Cal Tech of Pasadena. The game starts at 8 p.m. at Cox Stadium on the Lake Merced campus.

Verducci's squad may be poor, outstanding, or any point in between.

The Gators have a collection of fast, agile backs but considerably less personnel in the line than last year.

Verducci can field a hard hitting first unit but the drop-off is tremendous and three or four injuries could ruin the season.

Win, lose or draw, the San Franciscans are equipped to thrill the fans. Verducci will open with Rudy Smith, the team's leading scorer in 1950, and Dick Nave, voted most valuable in the homecoming game last year at the halfback spots. Behind this pair are such tricky runners as Harry (The Horse) Bremond, Bob Lualhati, Walt Bremond and Littleton Cook.

Veteran Dick Storm starts at fullback and he is supported by Walt Gomez, a compact Hawaiian from San Mateo J. C. and Jim McElroy, star of Yuba J.C.'s 1951 Dust Bowl team.

The majority of the backs are quick starting "thrill runners" and the main handicap will be lack of height when they go on defense.

The starting line, topped by such returning stars as end George Wehner, tackle Bob Foote and guards Jess Jones and Don Slates, should meet all competition. There is a tremendous lack of depth, however, and the season hinges on the absence of injuries and the development of new men.

Tackle Don Logue, end Tony

The Outdoors

COLUSA—A new method of making prime pheasant hunting lands available to Californians will be explored this fall when the Grimes Community Hunting Area opens under the aegis of the State's four-year-old cooperative hunting program.

Twenty thousand acres in Colusa county's best pheasant hunting country will be opened to hunters for a $1 daily charge. Seasonal permits are now on sale for $5 each.

The Grimes experiment does not affect the operation of the 15 other cooperative areas throughout the State which will be opened without charge by the Department of Fish and Game.

Funds raised from the sale of permits will be collected and administered through the Grimes Community Hunting Area, Inc., according to an announcement from the Department of Fish and Game. Proceeds will be used to help local youth organizations, to encourage useful civic projects and to promote better landowner-sportsman relations.

Twenty-five per cent of the funds raised will be used for local pheasant habitat improvement, as required under the Legislative cooperative hunting area act.

The Department of Fish and Game will continue to operate the 6,000-acre College City cooperative area adjacent to the Grimes area. This unit will be opened to hunters without charge.

A total of 750 hunting permits will be available on each hunting day at the Grimes charge area. A similar number of seasonal permits will be sold by mail in advance of the 10-day hunting season. Details are available from Sheldon Morris, P. O. Box, Grimes, Calif.

EUREKA — Four additional miles of spawning area on High Prairie Creek, Del Norte county, have been made accessible to steelhead trout and salmon by a Department of Fish and Game stream improvement crew.

Using dynamite, pioneer tools and a small chain saw winch, the State workers removed logs and debris which jammed two falls.

The work of the north coastal stream clearance crews is jointly financed by State and Federal wildlife agencies under the provisions of the Dingell-Johnson Act.

SACRAMENTO — California Fish and Game Commission President William J. Silva has announced the promotion of Miss Monica O'Brien from secretary-stenographer in the Department of Fish and Game to Secretary to the Commission, with headquarters in Sacramento.

The newly-created position was filled by the Commission from a civil service test list.

Miss O'Brien started in fish and game work in 1946 as secretary to the executive officer of the Division of Fish and Game.

Representatives of the Associated Fishing Tackle Manufacturers estimate that the retail value of tackle which will be sold in 1953 will amount to about $125,000,000.

SAN FRANCISCO — Opening the way for development of one of California's untouched ocean resources, the Fish and Game Commission has received and approved the first permit ever requested for the reduction of hake into commercial oils and meals.

The lone permit to utilize this abundant ocean fish was granted to Stanley Hiller of San Francisco. He plans to manufacture a new kind of processed food from the hake, which until now has been considered of little market value. The Hiller plant is located at Morro Bay.

TERMINAL ISLAND — California's sea-going sportsmen caught 302,000 ocean fish during June, according to partyboat catch figures compiled by the Department of Fish and Game. This was an average of four fish a day for each of the 75,000 anglers tallied.

A Southern California kelp-bass catch of 107,000 made up over a third of the State's total catch. Some 69,000 rockfish and 41,000 jack mackeral were also counted. The barracuda take reached 29,000.

Only 5,100 yellowtail were brought in, compared with 13,500 for the month before.

Sixty per cent of all hunting accidents in 1952 occurred during the first nine days of hunting seasons, reports the National Rifle Association.

SACRAMENTO—In its search for a solution to the problem of more California hunters and less open hunting land, the Department of Fish and Game this fall will operate the Welch waterfowl and pheasant hunting cooperative area near Maxwell, Colusa county.

As many as 275 duck hunters or 550 pheasant hunters can be accommodated on the 5,680 acres at one time. A daily charge of $2 per hunter will be in effect during both open hunting seasons.

The Welch area, located four miles east of Maxwell and eight miles northwest of Colusa on the Colusa-Maxwell road, is the State's only waterfowl cooperative hunting area. It is private property operated much like the successful pheasant cooperative areas and is not a part of the Department's waterfowl management area public shooting ground system.

Licensed gunners will report to the area checking station and receive hunting permits on a first-come, first-served basis. Camping on the area is not permitted and boats are not needed, the Department advises.

During the open waterfowl hunting seasons, October 16 to November 18, and December 8 to January 10, the area will be available to shooters only on Wednesdays, Saturdays, Sundays, opening and closing days of each season and holidays, except Christmas and New Year's.

SACRAMENTO—A clarification of California's 1953 goose hunting bag limits has been announced by the Fish and Game Commission. At its September meeting, the State body adopted the following wording to be added to the Federal migratory bird regulations:

Except Ross' goose (upon which there is no open season) the daily bag and possession limit shall be six geese, including in such limit not more than three birds of the dark species, as follows: common Canada (honker), lesser Canada, Hutchins (Richardson's), white-fronted (speckle-belly), tule, blue or emperor geese; or six snow geese; or six cackling geese; or a sufficient number of snow or cackling geese added to any of the above listed dark geese to make a total of not more than six geese.

The hunting seasons extend between October 16 and November 18, and December 8 to January 10.

SACRAMENTO—State Department of Fish and Game workers put their Sacramento-San Joaquin river salmon and steelhead study project into high gear during the month of August with the tagging of 585 adult king salmon and 393 adult steelhead in the Sacramento river near Knights Landing.

The three-year Dingell-Johnson project is headed by Harry A. Hanson, fisheries management supervisor for the Department's Region I.

CHP Warns All Drivers To Slow Down In Darkness

Watch out when it's dark out.

With clocks turned back to standard time and with resulting early darkness, the California Highway Patrol today urged all drivers, and pedestrians too, to heed this warning.

Traffic accident figures show that the hours of dusk and early evening darkness are the most dangerous to motorists and pedestrians.

More than one-half of all traffic deaths occur during the hours of darkness when the volume of traffic is much lower than during daylight hours. On the basis of miles traveled the night fatalities outnumber daytime deaths by a rate of almost three to one.

During the months with shorter days and early darkness, according to these same statistics, one-third of all fatal pedestrian accidents happen between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. This is the time of day when most people are making their way home from work.

"Failure of motorists to allow for greatly reduced visibility, overconfidence on the part of the pedestrian and the added fatigue factor, are the usual explanations for these dinner time tragedies," the Patrol announced.

"Remember, it's easy for the pedestrian to see oncoming headlights. The question is whether the driver of that automobile can see the pedestrian," the Patrol cautions, adding, "You have a better chance to live if you will only watch out when it's dark out."

Universe Twice As Big, U. C. Scientist Finds

First conclusive proof that the universe is actually twice as old—and twice as big—as astronomers have believed for a long time has been worked out by Harold Weaver, associate proffessor of astronomy at the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

He explained that Dr. Walter Baade of Mount Wilson and Palomar observatories suggested a year ago that earlier estimates of the age and size of the universe were in error. But final proof of this was lacking.

Recent work by Dr. Weaver, however, proves without doubt that the established distance-scale of the universe (from which its age is determined) was only half as large as the measure should have been. And Dr. Weaver proved this by accident while he was working on another astronomical problem.

"These results won't alter our life here on earth," the astronomer said, "but they will clear up the confusion between radioactive and astronomical determinations of the earth's age and the evolutionary time scale of the stars."

Dr. Weaver's proof now sets the conception of the universe at 3.6 bilion instead of 1.8 billion years ago: the astronomers can now agree with the geologists.

The proof was established while Dr. Weaver was working out a new way to determine the dynamic constants of motion for our galaxy. In the course of this work, he believed he had found a new way to figure out the distance between the earth and the center of our Milky Way. He used the galactic star clusters and Cepheid veriable stars at the outer reaches of our galaxy in his calculations.

Dr. Weaver explained that although the size of the universe is doubled the dimensions of our galaxy will not be altered in theory by these recent discoveries. But he added:

"It is comforting to think that we're looking twice as far into space with our telescopes than we thought we were only a year ago."

PIE TOWN

Pie Town, located in New Mexico, is reported by the National Automobile Club to have received its name because the owner of a mining claim near the site was in the habit of baking luscious pastry for travelers and nearby citizens.

John Muir was president of the Sierra Club from 1892 to 1914.

The first training school for nurses in California was established at San Francisco's Children's hospital in 1882.

Winds, Tides Change Length of Day

You may not be aware of it, but at certain times of the year a day isn't quite 24 hours long and at other times it's a bit more than 24 hours.

Science has been uncertain as to the cause of the fluctuations, but now two University of California scientists have some convincing evidence that the winds and tides are primarily responsible. They are Dr. Yale Mintz of the meteorology department of the Los Angeles campus and Dr. Walter Munk of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Winds seem to be the major contributor. At certain times of the year westerly winds speed up the earth's rotation, and at other times easterly winds create a drag effect slowing it down.

The tidal factor, and this includes not just the oceans but a distortion of the entire earth, depends upon the position of the sun. When the sun is opposite the equator it causes a bulge around the middle, slowing down the earth just a trace. As the sun comes nearer the pole the earth draws in and spins faster, just as a figure skater does as she pulls her arms in closer to her body.

Twenty-four-hour days are shorter in the latter part of June and longer in the latter part of March.

But don't bother to readjust your schedule. The difference is only a thousandth of a second between the extremes.

EXCESSIVE SPEED KILLS .....

Excessive speed is a sudden and brutal killer, warns the National Automobile Club. Whenever you hurry to make an appointment, or give yourself up to the lure of that wide and open road, you are giving this killer a chance to kill you.

DON'T DAYDREAM

Don't daydream while driving, advises the National Automobile Club. If a child darts out from behind a parked car or a truck suddenly lurches out from a side road, your pleasant daydream can very easily be turned into an unpleasant nightmare.

Spike Jones Brings Musical "Mayhem" To The Curran

It's an old bromide that the "criminal always returns to the scene of his crime."

And musically speaking this applies to Spike Jones. The musical mayhem maestro who brings his new "Musical Insanities of 1954" to the Curran Theatre, San Francisco, on October 18, 8:30 p.m., has a guilt complex.

He has murdered the classics for so many years that now he would like to do something for the symphonic associations, many of whom are teetering on financial precipices.

"Id like to take about five key men from my band and put on a concert with a symphony. The first half of the concert would be solid, symphonic music," he promises. But after that, who knows? Knowing his musicians, he's not so sure they might not stray from the staid classical strains.

Anyway, he's sure the music lovers would "bravo" the first half, and then probably stick around to see what might happen.

Mail orders for the October 18 stage premiere in San Francisco and for the nightly performances for the entire three weeks and for the Saturday and Sunday matinees are now being received at the Curran, San Francisco. Seats go on sale at the box office, starting the morning of October 5, the Curran announces.

WALDO ROAD WORK STARTS

The $4,122,000 highway improvement project to widen and expand the Waldo approach to the Golden Gate Bridge got underway last week after Joseph J. Diviny, president of the bridge directors, churned up the traditional first chunk of earth in ground-breaking ceremonies sponsored by the Redwood Empire Association.

SF Home Show Breaks All Box Office Marks

With more than 55,000 paid admissions in the first six days of its current showing at the Civic Auditorium, the San Francisco Home Show which ends this Sunday evening, has broken all existing box office records for similar bay area shows.

With Harry Owen's Royal Hawaiians providing a daily and nightly stage show and an hour-long matinee fashion show featuring Ernie Heckscher's Fairmont Hotel orchestra, the thousands who have attended the nine-day event agree that the home show offers the greatest entertainment value offered in the bay area in some time.

Village Notes

By Mrs. Edith Warmoth (PL 5-8026)

The news items this writing are more bits of interest about our friends and neighbors in B.V.

MIDWAY

A baby shower was hostessed by Mrs. Alice Travinsky last Monday evening, September 28 in honor of her sister-in-law Mrs. Connie Travinsky. The guest of honor was unable to attend this festive occasion as she was in the hospital following the birth of a son, Keith George, who arrived Saturday, September 26. However, the ladies present enjoyed the party and we are sure Connie will be pleased at the array of tiny garments awaiting her new baby on his homecoming. Those attending were: Bettey Schmidt, Ilene Locke, Kay Mattson, Eileen Crofton, Gladys Larsen, Ruth Stewart, Grace Crofton, Edna Spediachi, Barbara Rasmussen, Marge McKay, Pat Mattson and Vi Zaitz.

Mrs. Grace Crofton spent last weekend at the Russian River.

NIMITZ

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stookey who celebrated a 17th Wedding Anniversary October 2. The Stookey's, along with Mr. & Mrs. Jack Cowden enjoyed a mutual celebration as it was also Mrs. Cowden's birthday on that date.

Mr. Stookey's brother and wife, the Royal Stookey's, also visited them for a week. They reside in Salt Lake City.

SWEETWOOD

Carol Hansen of Mariner Scout Troop 4 was elected Queen of the South City Sea Scout Ship 76. It seems there will be a "Queen Ball" November 9 and there are seven Sea Scout Ships in the County who in turn will elect their Queen. Each Queen elected will compete against the other in the final judging which will give them title "Queen of the Fleet." Luck to you Carol on this event.

It was an eighth birthday for Susan McKinley Saturday, September 26. A dinner party was given for the occasion and ten of her little friends were invited to help celebrate.

MACARTHUR

Raymond Monks had a tenth birthday last week and he and five of his friends celebrated with a theatre party on Saturday. On Sunday members of his family further added to the event by participating in a family dinner party. I am sure that this birthday was well recognized for Ray. After all ten years is really getting up there.

WASHINGTON

A surprise birthday party was held last Saturday, September 26, for Dougie Alexander who was six years old September 28. On hand to join in on the fun were the following of his little friends: Donnie Peters (who went in place of his sister Linda who was bedded down with a cold), Frankie and Michael Markovich, Mary Terry, Johnny Davy, John LePine, Steven and Janice Mackintosh, Ronald and Jerry Krawetz, and sister Pamela Alexander was there, too.

FOOTHILL DRIVE

Saturady, September 26th a "Big Lady Party" was given to celebrate Kathy Leech's seventh birthday. Several of her little neighbors and school friends came dressed as "ladies" (looked as if the girls had rummaged through Mamas closets and each girl was given a little nosegay. Vicky and Claudia Guz, Phylis and Elaine Chiosso, Stefnie Winter, Kitty Lagoria, Susan Sherman and Debbie Leech were among those present.

LOUVAINE DRIVE

Mrs. Gracia Kruger was hostess at a Stanley Party on September 21. The demonstrator of these ever-popular products was Mrs. Lillian Hoyt of B.V. Those attending were: Lillian Del Fante, Mrs. Carella, Aileen Johnson, Bea Gantert, Lorraine Bjorquist, Wanda Milani, Kay Braun, Dorothy Swoverland, Adelaide Mattison and Mrs. Carrie Reed and Mrs. Lewis Reed of Redwood City.

Happy Birthday were extended to Charles Winter on September 18th. It was a ninth birthday for Charles and as a special surprise he was treated to a birthday luncheon at the "Red Chimney" in Stonestown.

That's all for now and I will have to rush to get it in the office before the deadline.

FIVE MEASLES CASES HERE DURING AUGUST

A small rash of measles hit Daly City for the month of August, according to the morbidity report issued by the county health department.

A total of five cases were reported here, as compared with 24 throughout the county.

Of the five polio cases in the county, none were recorded for Daly City.

The health department has announced that gamma globulin is still available for the household contacts of definitely diagnosed cases of polio. Dr. Chope or Dr. Wynns should be contacted in regard to securing it.

Other diseases reported for Daly City during August were:

Salmonellosis, 1; Syphillis, 1; Whooping Cough, 1.

SWITCHING THE TIRES

Switching the tires is said by the National Automobile Club to make them last longer.

AUTOMATIC DRIVE IS ATTRIBUTED MAINLY TO WOMEN DRIVERS

Women drivers were credited today by Peter Venturino of 5975 Mission street for the success of automatic transmissions, power steering, power brakes, and accelerating the trend toward the automatic automobile.

The once common sound of clashing gears, generally associated with women drivers, is disappearing from the streets. Of all the new devices on cars, the automatic transmission was most wanted by women because it eliminated the clutch pedal, manual gear shifting, gave a smooth pick up, and let drivers concentrate on the road and traffic. Its popularity has grown to a point where Packard, in the fine car field, is equipping four out of five of its cars with the company's utramatic transmission this year. In addition Venturino said that 22 per cent will have power steering, and 65 per cent will be equipped with power brakes.

VELOCITIZED DRIVING

After driving on an open highway, check your speedometer when approaching a slow-up zone to be sure you are driving within the speed limit indicated, the California State Automobile Association cautions. When you have been "velocitized" for a long time, dropping to a speed of 40 miles an hour will seem like traveling 30 miles an hour or less. Don't be fooled by your senses. Check your movement accurately by the speedometer and be safe.

New Fire Engine Contract Is OK'd

fered more features than the other firms.

However, some disagreement was expressed by representatives of the bidders attending the council meeting.

A Mr. O'Neill, representing the American La France company, claimed thaf his firm was $800 lower than the winner, and that they would provide a comparable engine.

Kennedy explained that all aspects of the bids had been taken into consideration.

Next to protest was Mr. Curtis of the Maxim company. "If you want the real facts, we're the low bidders," he said.

Kennedy again interjected, explaining patiently that he had taken close scrutiny of all bids.

Despite the minor differences, the council accepted the Seagraves bid; the representatives tipped their hats to the council, thanked them for their consideration, and the city fathers continued with the regular order of business.

The fire chief later said that with addition of the new fire truck and fire house Daly City would have "one of the finest fire departments in the county."

Delivery of the truck is expected in 120 days. Following awarding of contract, the fire house should be erected in about four months, Kennedy estimated.

In colonial America, nutmegs were sold as charms at county fairs.
